Poles To Attack Anti-Semitism

Polish newspapers which have hitherto appeared reluctant to print lists of murdered Jews have devoted considerable space to these crimes. Practically all the Warsaw dailies published the names of the places in which murders took place. In a front-page article, a semi-official Polish newspaper denounces these murders which "do great harm to the Polish State" and calls on the people to make a stand against them and fight for "Polish morality."

Of the 50,000 Polish Jews in the Subcarpathian region of Southern Poland before the war, only one survived. The others were put to death by the Nazis in a mass slaughter in August, 1942. The sole survivor, David Gangrun, returned to Nowy Targ, only to be shot dead on March 9 by terrorists.

It is mainly in the smaller centres that the terrorists operate. More and more is it becoming evident that they have some base or bases from which to operate and that the Polish countryside, either through fear or for other reasons, is giving them support.

The terrorists are believed to number about 40,000. It would be impossible for such a large body to hide from the police if they did not enjoy the support of the peasantry, says the London Jewish Chronicle.

It is significant that in an official communique recently issued by the Ministry of Public Security in connection with a police raid on the Warsaw headquarters of the Polish Peasant Party the party is charged with "maintaining contact with the terrorists." No denial has so far been issued by the Peasant Party. [illegible]

[illegible] and even go so far as to maintain that the terrorists are purposely intensifying their activities so as to increase panic, and so discredit the Government that everyone will turn to Mikolajczyk as the one man who can bring about relief and order.

Of course more evidence is needed before this can be accepted as fact, but it cannot be denied that since the failure to form the bloc, more Jews are being murdered by the Nationalists and the position of Polish Jewry is rendered even more precarious.

Alarmed and ashamed at the growing wave of terror against the Jews, a group of Poles of practically every shade of political opinion called a meeting to under-

Thousands Have No Place To Go

A year ago British troops on a mission of liberation reached Belsen, Nazi graveyard concentration camp.

Uberstrumfuhrer Josef Kramer, the commandant, greeted the British officers smartly. Interned at Belsen were only about a thousand of the worst criminals, homosexuals, murderers and the insane, he told them in response to a request for information about how many prisoners were being held.

Kramer was pushed aside, into custody. The British went into the centre.

There were 10,000 emaciated corpses piled together in long high rows. There were 80,000 skeleton-thin human beings, 70,000 of them Jews. Some of the living, with starved skin shrunken against their bones, were among the rows of the dead. When one moved it was rescued from the stack of corpses. Newsreels in the United States gave the picture but they couldn't include the smell. The stench was overpowering.

The effect of typhus and starvation—German starvation methods drove prisoners at Belsen to cannibalism—were deeply intrenched and 13,000 persons died in the week after liberation. In addition, more than 15,000 died before last summer ended. Thousands of others went to other displaced persons centres, many of them in the American zone. A minority of the lucky ones went home.

Now, a year later, there are still 20,000 displaced persons living in Belsen, the majority of them Poles, half of them Jewish, afraid to return home, and with no place else to go, says the New York Herald Tribune.

There were 250 Jewish children [illegible] ing for wood later used to cremate dead adults, including, perhaps, their parents.

Soon after the liberation the children were removed to a home on an estate at Blankanese, an hour's ride from the town of Bergen, where Belsen is. A group of 115 of the children have gone to Palestine, their new homeland.

They were a happy, smiling bunch, a recent photograph disclosed. They appear fit, with much added weight. But their recovery is not complete. All but one of the 250 children had developed heart irregularities during their ordeal as prisoners—which sometimes included being forced to assume a toe-touching bend and being forced to maintain the position for

STREICHER SAYS JEWS TREATED HIM HUMANELY

Jew-baiter Julius Streicher told the International Military Tribunal at Nuremberg, Germany, that he had been maltreated by United States troops in "Gestapo" fashion, but afterward had been treated humanely and correctly by Jewish officers and doctors.

The squat, bald defendant declared that before he had been brought to Nuremberg for trial he had been beaten and chained, forced to kiss the feet of Negro troops, spat upon and ordered to drink from latrines.

Army security guard officials had no comment on the testimony of the defendant.

He declared "I'm proud of it" when he was reminded of the prosecution charges that he had turned his own local Nuremberg anti-Semitic society over to the Nazis. Streicher said it became "a bridge to northern Germany" for spreading National Socialism.

He proclaimed himself father of the Nuremberg decrees "because for years I wrote that further mixing of German and Jewish blood had to be avoided."

New Body Rejects Zionism

Organization of the Alliance for the Preservation of American Reform Judaism, which rejects all theories of Jewish nationalism or Zionism, was announced by its secretary, Herbert S. Benjamin of Baton Rouge, Louisiana. The membership extended through twenty-eight States, he said. Bernard S. Grandwohl of Lincoln [illegible] deeply disturbed by Zionism and terribly concerned about the trends towards Jewish nationalism, "has been formed to safeguard the basic principles of American Reform Judaism," Mr. Grandwohl said.

"We specifically disclaim," he continued, "the concept that we are part of a world-wide national people who must recognize a Jewish state in Palestine as a Jewish national homeland. Our one and only national tie is with our fellow Americans of all religious faiths. Our American nationality is single, entire and exclusive, without qualification in any particular or to any extent."

"We affirm," he declared, "the nature and object of Judaism entirely in terms of religion, rejecting the idea that we are either a nation or a race. We are Americans by nationality, and embrace no other nationalism, either in whole or in part.

"In all civic activities, not of a religious nature, we maintain that Americans of Jewish faith should participate as individual American citizens and not as a secular minority group."

Want Pogromist Deported From U.S.

An investigation of the legality of the entry into the U. S. in December, 1945, of former czarist General Anton I. Denikin, is being conducted by the United States Department of Immigration. At a preliminary hearing in New York, the Trade Union Committee for Jewish Unity appeared with witnesses to present testimony for the purpose of having Denikin deported, Max Steinberg, Secretary of the Trade Union Committee announced.

The hearings will continue indefinitely and Denikin will be required to appear to answer the charges of being personally responsible for approximately 200 pogroms in the Ukraine and South Russia, and for the accompanying massacre of tens of thousands of Jewish inhabitants there. Much documentary evidence and many people who lived through these pogroms, Steinberg continued, are available and will prove the need for ridding the country of the pogromist Denikin.

A special memorandum of law will be prepared and presented to show that Denikin should be deported under the present rules, according to [illegible], who appeared at the hearing as attorney for the [illegible].

Attack Jews Daily In Rumania

A special council of all University professors in the Rumanian Government was held in the Premier's office to examine the situation in the universities where, in recent weeks, anti-Semitic demonstrations have become an almost daily occurrence.

Besides the pasting of slogans on the walls of the faculties, pamphlets have been clandestinely distributed during lectures and in the streets, and anti-Jewish incidents have been reported throughout the country.

When a student was recently found murdered in Jassy in circumstances of which nothing is at present known, spontaneous anti-Semitic demonstrations took place. Violence was only avoided by the intervention of the trade unions.

Both Government and independent newspapers have been recalling the period after the first world war when Jassy students initiated an anti-Semitic movement. The papers express alarm at this rebirth of chauvinism and anti-Semitism.

Two thousand students of Bucharest University recently assembled in front of the Royal Palace, ostensibly to pay homage to the King who, however, was absent from Bucharest. The gathering developed into an anti-Semitic demonstration, the students marching through the streets shouting "Down with the Jews" and "Death to the Jews".

Following the protest lodged by Jews against the Government's refusal not only to grant the request for a 300 per cent increase in subsidy for Jewish schools, but even to pay the 600,000,000 lei subsidy already promised, and due to be paid last October, the Government has now agreed to increase the subsidy by [illegible]

Baby Girl, Of Parents Killed By Gestapo, Gets First U.S. Visa, And Home

A three - and - a - half - year-old girl, whose parents were murdered by the Nazis, received in Berlin a visa for America, and this was wonderful news to a childless home in the Flatbush section of Brooklyn, N. Y.

The little orphan, too young to remember her parents, too young to realize the tragedy of her brief life, will be coming soon to Flatbush to be the daughter of Sergeant and Mrs. Bert Simons in their fourth-floor apartment at 2164 Caton Avenue, Brooklyn.

Mr. Simons, a serious, bespectacled man of thirty-six, has not lived in the Brooklyn apartment since August, 1943. In that month he joined the Army, was trained to become a soldier, placed in the 103rd Infantry and sent overseas.

Last October in a Berlin orphanage Sergeant Simons saw little Bella Raphael. She was skinny and wan, but she had a sweet smile and she ran toward the American soldier. That was that. She was going to become the daughter that Sergeant Simons and his wife, Jeanne, had always wanted.

Sergeant Simons had to remain six months past his normal stretch overseas in order to complete the red tape of adoption, says the New York Herald Tribune. Once he had to kidnap Bella to keep her near him.

Last week the last details were arranged. Bella became the first displaced person to receive a visa from the newly opened American consulate in Berlin. Vice-Consul Dan A. Gribbla, of Burlington, Vt., chief of the visa section, explained:

"It seemed only fitting that the [illegible]

In the [illegible] Mrs. Jeanne Simons was bubbling over with the story of the little chestnut-haired daughter whom she has seen only in pictures.

"I just can't wait for her to [illegible] here," Mrs. Simons said. "I [illegible] she and Bert could come on the same boat, but I suppose that's [illegible] much to expect. I'm not [illegible] any clothes for her in adv[illegible] It'll be such fun to take her [illegible]ping with me. She's a won[illegible] child. Bert said she respond[illegible] everything. She's even lear[illegible] English. She's as cute as a [illegible]ton."

Mrs. Simons kept showing [illegible] cable from her husband. It [illegible] "Darling, you have just [illegible] a mother. Father and [illegible] doing well."

The DOW AWARD PRESENTED TO
Pauline Hutt
FOR EXCEPTIONAL COURAGE AND BRAVERY

On bleak Nichol Island, off the Nova Scotia coast, Lighthouse Keeper James Hutt had gone hunting along the shore. He had not returned at dusk . . . and his wife and small son began a frantic search in the biting wind. They found him, trailing blood, trying to crawl home. He had accidently shot himself. They struggled in vain to drag him up the hill on a toboggan. The mother sounded the fog alarm, built brush fires . . . but no help came. The next morning Hutt died.

After three attempts to launch a boat that day, the young woman and her son finally got away at night and somehow covered the two miles to the wharf. The courageous efforts of Pauline Hutt to save her husband's life are beyond praise. We are proud indeed to present her with The Dow Award.

PALESTINE FLOWERS SENT BY PLANE TO N.Y.

Flowers, grown in Palestine, and flown to America by Trans-World Airways were presented to Dr. Abba Hillel Silver and Dr. Stephen S. Wise in New York, as a gift from the Jewish community at a special ceremony, presided over by Dr. David Tannenbaum, Director of the Palestine Economic Bureau of the Zionist Organization of America.

This marks the first time that cut flowers, direct from Palestine, have been brought to America. Their presentation was made posible by the rapid air service recently inaugurated by TWA bringing Palestine to within 36 air hours of New York.

The flowers were grown in a small cooperative colony, Mishmar Hasharon (Watch on the Sharon) midway between Tel Aviv and Haifa on Palestine's coastal plain. The colony has a war record which is typical of all of Palestine's Jewish colonies. It consists of 65 families in addition to a number of children who escaped from the Nazis, and who are receiving agricultural training in the colony. Every one of the colony's men and women of military age, served in either the Armed Forces or in the Home Guard. Twenty-two of the sixty-five saw actual combat service in the Egyptian, African, Italien and European campaigns.

THE PROVINCE OF PROMISE...

ONTARIO, in a geographical sense only, may be said to be sharply divided . . . a natural division into north country and south country that emphasises the province's variety of climate—of industry—of character. Northward, Ontario extends to the semi-arctic region of Hudson Bay . . . Southward, to the semi-tropic fruit belt of the Niagara Peninsula . . . "The Garden of Canada" . . . a blossom land overflowing with nature's gifts, where peaches, plums, pears, grapes and cherries come richly in their seasons. Fruit farming is but one of the untold opportunities offered by the four hundred thousand square miles, and more, that are Ontario . . . a veritable empire of resources.

A CORNER ON FRUIT

90% of the acreage devoted to the cultivation of

PEACHES • GRAPES • PEARS
PLUMS and CHERRIES

in the Province of Ontario centres in the rich Niagara district which produces 90% of the province's total yield.

When the Ontario fruit belt's two million peach trees, seven million grape vines and hundreds of thousands of other fruit trees bear their abundance, armies of workers are on hand to gather it.

CLASS IN COOKERY

CHOCOLATE CAKE

two squares unsweetened chocolate one cup flour
two teaspoons baking powder, pinch of salt
two eggs
one-half cup milk
one teaspoon vanilla
one cup sugar
one tablespoon butter

Melt together in double boiler the butter and chocolate. Sift together the flour, sugar, baking powder, and salt, and add gradually to the chocolate mixture. Beat the eggs well, and add the milk to the eggs, and vanilla. Combine, mix well, and bake for one-half hour in a 375-degree to 400-degree oven.

Icing

two tablespoons butter
one square chocolate
one cup icing sugar
sweet cream

Melt together the butter and chocolate, and add icing sugar gradually, and as much cream as needed for the right consistency for spreading.

Mrs. David Fine,
320 Lonsdale Road, Toronto.

HONEY CHREMSLACH

Beat together: six eggs, two glasses of cold water, the grated rind of one lemon, and one-half glass sugar. Add two glasses of matzoh meal, and let the mixture stand for one-half hour. Grease a frying-pan, roll the mixture into small balls, and fry them on each side until brown. Melt about one-half cup of honey, and when heated, stir in the chremslach, and serve.

Mrs. Harris Fernley,
5020 Decarie Boulevard, Montreal.

The recipe for Passover Lemon Pie, given in by Mrs. M. Solomon, 2670 Soissons Avenue, Montreal, which appeared in the April 5 issue of the Review, should have read, for the filling, four tablespoons of potato flour and two tablespoons of matzoh cake meal, instead of teaspoons, in each case.

The Mothers And Babes Summer Rest Home Will Be Twenty-Five Years Old

By Dora Wilensky, Of Toronto, Director of The Jewish Family And Child Service of The United Jewish Welfare Fund

July 1946 marks the twenty-fifth anniversary of the Mothers and Babes Summer Rest Home. Organized, and until only a few years ago almost exclusively subsidized by the Hebrew Maternity Aid Society, the Summer Rest Home has played an important role in the lives of many thousands of Canadian Jewish mothers and children. Rest and pleasure during the period spent at camp, but for many the experience was something more important. The interest that they felt in the organized and informal discussions held at camp they carried into their every day life in their homes.

The Summer Rest Home recognizes the need and the right of every individual to have a complete rest and change; especially does it regard it as essential that mothers of small children be relieved of as much of their everyday responsibility as possible for a period during the year if they are to be healthy and good mothers. The Rest Home's objective is to give to mothers and children under the age of eight years a two weeks' experience in the kind of camp life in which the mothers can do just what they please while their children are under the constant supervision of counsellors, and participate with other children in a flexible program of recreational and educational activities. The mother has her choice between taking long rest periods, going on hikes, swimming, entering into games, into discussion groups and handicraft groups, or just doing nothing.

The camp fee is low and flexible. It is adjusted to the income of the would-be camper, and the amount she can afford to pay. Since the accommodation provides for three hundred people only during a summer, the camp seeks its guests from amongst those people whose incomes are too low to enable them to pay the present-day rate for a holiday, but who must have a vacation.

The Rest Home, covering eleven acres of land, is situated at Tallindale on Lake Simcoe, one-half mile off the main highway. Its nine hundred feet of lake frontage provide a fine expansive beach. The beautifully wooded forest and charming picnic grounds and playground allow ample opportunity for hikes, nature study and games. The main lodge is well-equipped with a cozy dining room, recreation room, modern kitchen and bathrooms. Cheerfully furnished bungalows containing four bedrooms, a sitting room, a bathroom and [illegible] of privacy. The delightful natural surroundings and the comfortable attractive quarters make for a holiday in which one can rest, and at the same time have pleasant and interesting diversion. Campers are encouraged to participate in the planning of program and activities, and to assist [illegible]

[illegible] and is under the joint direction of that society and the Jewish Family and Child Service. It cordially invites mothers with young children who cannot pay the regular prices, to make application for a two-weeks' holiday. (An appointment to make application can be secured by calling WA. 1876 after May 15.) To help replace certain camp equipment, travel teas, to be held in the homes of thirty hostesses, are planned to take place on May 9. People interested in supporting the Rest Home are invited to attend them.

MARRIAGES

OTIS-WIDEMAN

The marriage of Miss Anne Wideman, daughter of Mrs. Dora Wideman, 790 Outremont Avenue, and the late I. Wideman, to Morris Otis, son of Samuel Ottenheimer, of France, and the late Mrs. Ottenheimer, took place on April 4, at the Mount Royal Hotel, Rabbi Julius Berger officiating. Given in marriage by H. M. Steinberg, the bride wore a pale blue dress, and matching hip-length veil, and carried a prayer book covered with Talisman roses and streamers. Mrs. H. M. Steinberg, as matron of honor, wore a brown crepe dress, matching hat, and a corsage of yellow roses. Simon Flegg was best man. Mrs. Wideman, mother of the bride, wore a two-piece grey suit, grey accessories, and a corsage of American Beauty roses. Mrs. O. Strauss, sister of the groom, wore a black crepe cocktail dress, black hat and veil, and a corsage of American Beauty roses. The bride and groom spent their honeymoon in Ste. Agathe, and are living at 790 Outremont Avenue. Out-of-town guests were: [illegible] Ont.; E. H. Bresley, of Toronto, Ont.; and Max Rabiner, of Edmonton, Alta.

LERNER-ROSENTHAL

The marriage of Ruth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Saul Rosenthal, 4892 Hutchison Street, to Max, son of Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Lerner, 4139 Clark Street, took place at Chevra Kadisha Synagogue, on March 31, at half-past one o'clock, Rabbi C. N. Denburg officiating. Given in marriage by her parents, the bride wore a floor-length gown of white satin and net, designed with a sweetheart neckline, long tight sleeves pointed at the wrists, fitted bodice of satin coming to points over the hips, and a full net skirt ending in a long train. Her four-yard-long veil fell from a headdress of net and sea-shell pearl flowers, and had pearl earrings and necklace, and carried a bouquet of Calla lilies tied with white satin ribbon. Miss Libbie Rosenthal, as maid of honor, wore a floor-length gown with a powder-blue net skirt, and a satin print bodice with oval neckline; pink net headdress made with rosettes, and matching gloves, and carried a nosegay of variegated flowers, tied with pink ribbons. Frances Seidman and Frances Ship, as flower girls, the former in yellow satin, and the latter in blue satin, were dressed fashioned with round necklines, and hooped skirts, and matching bonnets, and carried nosegays. Samuel Klein was best man, and Joseph Bond, in full dress, was page boy. There was choir music during the ceremony, and "Because" was sung. The bride and groom danced the first dance number, "Till the End of Time". The tables were decorated with flower centrepieces and vases of flowers. Mrs. Rosenthal, mother of the bride, received two hundred and seventy-five guests, in a black draped skirt, black and white blouse, white and black hat, and long black gloves, and a corsage of red roses; with Mrs. Lerner, mother of the groom, in a brown crepe skirt, beige lace blouse, gold sequin hat, and beige gloves, with corsage of orange-colored roses. The bride and groom left for their honeymoon, the former travelling in a black dressmaker suit, white and black hat, black accessories, black coat, and corsage of white orchids. They are living at 4892 Hutchison Street. Out-of-town guests were: Saul Sherman and daughter, Eleanor; and Max Sherman, all of New York.

HECHT-ROZANSKY

The marriage of Rita, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Rozansky, 2135 Old Orchard Avenue, to Sol. S. Hecht, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Hecht, 5960 Hutchison Street, took place at Chevra Kadisha Synagogue, on Sunday, April 7, at one o'clock, Rabbi C. Denburg officiating. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an afternoon dress of white crepe, studded with pearl beads, and a gardenia headdress and white veil, and carried a bible covered with Talisman roses. Miss Gertrude Silver, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a blue crepe afternoon dress, and matching gardenia headdress and veil, and carried a nosegay of mixed flowers. Gerson Hecht, brother of the groom, was the best man. The synagogue was decorated with ferns and snapdragons. Bach music was played on the organ, and Mrs. Al. Glazer, cousin of the bride, sang "I Love You Truly" and "Because." At the luncheon in the Salle Doree of the Mount Royal Hotel, there was music, and the tables had centerpieces of a variety of flowers. Mrs. Rozansky, mother of the bride, wore a teal-blue dress, and matching hat, and a corsage of pink roses. Mrs. Hecht, mother of the groom, wore a grey dress, black accessories, and a corsage of pink roses. The bride and groom spent their honeymoon in New York.

MARRIAGES

NEFSKY-WITCHEL

The marriage of Miss Doris Witchel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Witchel, of Sudbury, to Dr. Colman Henry Nefsky, son of I. Nefsky, Beverley Street, and the late Mrs. Nefsky, at McCaul Street Synagogue, with Rabbi William Drazin officiating, against an altar banked with tall standards of pink and white snapdragons and massed palms. The bride, given in marriage by her parents, wore a white heavy brocaded satin gown, fashioned with a fitted bodice, scalloped yoke, and short sleeves of tulle illusion, and elbow-length mittens of matching tulle. Her headdress was gardenia-shaped and satin brocaded, with embroidered tulle veil, and she carried a colonial bouquet of roses, sweet peas, and buddleia. Miss Shirley Witchel, of Montreal, Que., sister of the bride, was maid of honour, and in an embroidered yellow marquisette frock, with a ruffled bodice and skirt. Misses Betty and Anne Magder, the bride's cousins, were bridesmaids, and wore matching gowns of taffeta in blue, and ashes-of-roses shades, with fitted bodices, velvet boleros, and bouffant skirts. All these attendants had matching coronets and ruffled elbow-length mittens of tulle, and carried nosegays of roses, sweet peas, and buddleia. Captain Herbert Levitt, R.C.A.M.C., was groomsman, and Dr. Harry Jolley and Leonard Nefsky were ushers. Mrs. Witchel received in a brown crepe dress, with beaded embroidery, and a brown mohair hat, and corsage of Talisman roses and sweet peas; with Mrs. I. Nefsky, stepmother of the groom, in a brown crepe dress, with printed bodice, and a corsage of red and white roses. Later, Dr. and Mrs. Nefsky left on a trip to the Laurentians, the bride wearing a light blue wool suit, with a brown Alaska seal coat, and matching accessories, and a corsage of roses, sweet peas, buddleia. The couple will reside in Toronto. Out-of-town guests present were: Mr. and Mrs. H. Moses, Wolfe Moses, Mr. and Mrs. S. Magder, Leslie Witchel, Mr. and Mrs. J. SCHLIFER-PINSLER

The marriage of Miss Ann Julia Pinsler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Pinsler, 262 Queen Street East, to Morris Schlifer, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. Schlifer, 661 College Street, took place at Murray House, on March 28, with Rabbi D. Monson officiating. The bride was given in marriage by her parents. She wore a street-length dress of silver-pink crepe, with a sweetheart neckline, cap sleeves, and a flared skirt. Her headdress was of silver-pink satin, with ostrich tips, and a shoulder-length silver-pink veil, and she carried a white Bible, adorned with white roses and streamers. Mrs. A. Berlin was matron of honour, in a rose-color and lime-green princess dress, with matching lime-green flowered headdress, and lime-green gloves, and carried a bouquet of red roses. Samuel Schlifer, the groom's brother, acted as best man, and Ernest Fogel, Bernard Weisberg, and Bernard Katz, were ushers. The bride's mother, Mrs. Pinsler, received in a grey street-length dress, trimmed with silver sequins, a grey hat, with light blue ostrich feathers, and a corsage of red roses, assisted by the groom's mother, Mrs. Schlifer, in a turquoise-blue crepe dress, with a corsage of red roses. Later on, the couple left for a trip to Chicago, Ill., the bride wearing a grey suit, with matching brown accessories, and a green coat, with beaver tuxedo front. They will reside at 262 Queen Street East. Out-of-town guests present were: Ernest Fogel and Miss Muriel Rosen, of Windsor; Hyman Pepper, of Chicago, Ill.; and the bride's brother, Sol. Pinsler, of Suffield, Alta., Meteorological Observer, in the R.C.A.F.

SACKS-FEDDER

The marriage of Miss Sadie Fedder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Fedder, 217 Brunswick Avenue, to Ralph Sacks, son of Mrs. M. Sacks, 173 Huron Street, and the late J. Sacks, took place at the home of Rabbi A. Kelman, 408 Markham Street, with Rabbi Kelman officiating. The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a blue street-length dress of crepe, with a high round neckline, cap sleeves, a blue lace yoke, and a blue lace peplum; blue crepe hat with heart-shaped brim with a shoulder-length veil, and carried a sheaf of pink Sweetheart roses. The bride's sister, Miss Shirley Fedder, was maid of honour, and wore a pink floral print crepe dress, trimmed with black lace, and a coronet of pink flowers and tulle veiling, and carried an old-fashioned bouquet of yellow roses, forget-me-nots, and sweet peas. James Spergel was the best man. The reception took place at the bride's home, Mrs. Fedder wearing a grey crepe afternoon dress, with a grey and fuchsia-colored matching hat, and a corsage of [illegible]; with the groom's mother, Mrs. Sacks, wearing a black crepe afternoon dress, a matching black hat, and a corsage of yellow Tea roses. Later the couple left for a trip to New York, N. Y., the bride in a grey gabardine dressmaker suit, matching hat, a print silk jersey blouse, black accessories, and a grey coat. They will reside in Toronto. Out-of-town guests present were: Mr. and Mrs. A. J. [illegible] and sons Bruce and Allan, of Port Hope; Mr. and Mrs. [illegible] Weinberg and children, [illegible] and [illegible], of [illegible]; and the bride's brother, Dr. J. Commentaries

By Dr. Harry J. Stern, Rabbi

(Address at Broadcast, auspices of Montreal Junior Board of Trade over Station CJAD, by Rabbi Harry J. Stern. Participating were the Rev. G. Goth and Dr. L. P. Nelligan.)

No more appropriate occasion could have been chosen for a rabbi, minister, and Catholic leader on which to speak from a common platform than that of the Jewish Passover Week and the Christian Holy Week. The concurrence of these eventful days in the calendar of church and synagogue should stimulate the imagination of Jews and Christians to remove misunderstanding regarding each other, and to live and labor for the "fleshing" of the teachings of church and synagogue in daily living.

In this frightful Year One of the Atomic Age, the hope of civilization lies not in science, not in the machine, not even in the mere spread of knowledge. We are convinced that civilization can only have meaning and stability if mankind resolves to live by those ethical precepts taught by church and synagogue. Alas, the tragedy of our age is that man has advanced rapidly in the discoveries of science, but has lagged behind in the growth of the humane qualities which come through obedience to God's moral law.

We of the Allied nations have won the "outer" war. We vanquished the Nazi and Fascist pagans. Ours is victory indeed, a military victory. But there is the "inner" war we must now wage. As individuals, we must fight the virus of Nazism and Fascism which lurks in the hearts and minds of multitudes. There is, alas, discrimination in every walk of life, the "dislike for the unlike". Let us remember that if we limit the lives of the people we oppress, we also limit our own lives. Our challenging task today is to strike off the bonds that bind men's minds.

Recently a committee of the world Council of Churches declared at Geneva that Christians aim to oppose anti-Semitism because it is a "denial of the spirit and teaching of our Lord." What a timely statement, and one that can prove helpful in the "inner" war for world redemption. I, as a rabbi, firmly believe [illegible] if Christians the world over would recognise that nothing is [illegible] deeply and blasphemously anti-Christian than is anti-Semi[illegible] [illegible] might be hope that anti-Jewishness in all its cruelties [illegible] out of the life of Christendom.

[illegible] of history, all of us, of whatever creed and race, [illegible] this blessed land of Canada, must make reciprocal [illegible] to remove the causes of friction in personal and com[illegible] relationship. Jews and Christians, through understanding [illegible] goodwill which their respective faiths summon them to prac[illegible] can do much to bear common witness to the obligations of [illegible]therhood and the precepts of righteousness, truth and love [illegible] the foundations of the Godly society.

Nazism and Fascism, which singled out the Jew and Judaism [illegible] their chief foes, are bankrupt. They have been discredited. The ideals of the synagogue and the church—freedom, democracy, loving-kindness, justice, brotherhood and peace, have come out of the fiery crucible stronger than ever before. The Judaeo-Christian conception of life has triumphed. Church and synagogue must now inspire millions of men and women to go forth [illegible] war upon war and the things which lead to war, upon greed, [illegible] selfishness, imperialism, poverty and prejudice. We must [illegible] now for the hallowed moralities of life, otherwise there is no hope for our civilization.

In this hour we find ourselves entering in the back-wash period of the greatest war in history. It is a time when the spirit of man is seeking release in all forms of relaxation and the mind of man in all forms of "let go" philosophies. Shall we experience again a psychological rebound as we underwent after the last war? Shall we lose in peacetime the great visions of world fraternity which we beheld in war and apathetically because of disillusionment and disenchantment give up the faith in the good society of universal righteousness and universal fraternity?

Christian and Jewish youth in devoted comradeship fought and bled and sacrificed and died on every battlefront of the world that the Judaeo-Christian conception of life which is the foundation of civilization shall not perish from the earth. Can we now in civilian life match this brotherhood and live daily in genuine fellowship in our business and social striving? If so, then there is every hope for Canada and democracy everywhere.

Each of us, Catholic, Jew, and Protestant must undergo in this Passover-Easter season a flagellation of the spirit, a catharsis of heart and mind. We must ask ourselves, are we doing all to purge evil and to establish understanding? Our individual seeking of the good may play a small part in the creation of unity essential among the nations of the earth today. But that small contribution, when placed upon the scales, may throw the balance in favor of world peace founded on justice.

Campaigning For New Synagogue Structures

We are delighted that in our city of Montreal a number of fund-raising efforts are now being made with the purpose of erecting new Temple sanctuaries and congregational schools. This is all to the good and indicates spiritual growth indeed.

In our city we have done much that is praiseworthy in philanthropy and relief, both domestic and foreign. The Jewish community has certainly not been niggardly in its support of the [illegible] service agencies and Montreal has a splendid record of [illegible] in its work of charity.

[illegible] necessity of the present hour is that we place in our [illegible] upon the religious and educational insti[illegible] [illegible] of learning constitute [illegible] community. [illegible]

We have been the tragic witnesses of the destruction of a thousand and one Jewish sanctuaries in European lands, centuries-old Jewish libraries and academies of Torah have been devastated by the modern barbarians! It is therefore incumbent upon us, the fortunate, prosperous Jews of democratic lands, to build anew and compensate in the Western Hemisphere for the losses sustained across the sea.

Let us build sanctuaries of beauty that will symbolise our pride and loyalty to the faith of our fathers. In lands of oppression we had no chance to give expression to the aesthetic side of our religious heritage. We were forced to erect little sanctuaries in the secluded places. Hardly had we the opportunity to build on the highways.

We have a contribution to make to the life and civilization of America. We can best do so if our spiritual and cultural values are held aloft and we advance the Jewish spiritual heritage with its affirmation of the ethical and the aesthetic.

What a glorious opportunity there is for our generation to rise in dignity and self-respect by a re-consecration to the cause of Judaism and Torah!

And here we must underscore the fact that a synagogue is a community institution and is not to be treated as an ecclesiastical club belonging to a group. No matter what name the Temple or Synagogue bears, every synagogue serves the entire community. Hence, there is very good reason for our fellow-Jews to support all the synagogue campaigns now in swing. Let no one claim exemption under the excuse that he happens not to belong to this Shul or Temple.

We can best memorialize our precious martyred who perished in the slaughterpens of Europe by giving of our efforts and means to establish on these blessed shores sanctuaries for the revival of Judaism, learning, and piety.

Congratulations to the citizen leaders of the various synagogues [illegible] who have the vision to conceive and complete [illegible] of spiritual reconstruction [illegible]

Think It Over

The following letter to the Review is published at the request of the sender who has just returned home to Montreal from overseas. The identity of the letter-writer is known but is withheld by request. The writer says:

Some people may call me an interfering busy-body, perhaps I am.

Last year, I was in Holland. The first Seder night we drove to the nearest town to what was left of a Synagogue. Many Canadian army and air-force boys had come, too. The Congregation was small, about forty or fifty men, a few boys. Each man went around, asking if we had a place to go for a Seder. If anyone said "no", he was invited then and there.

Our family lived above the Synagogue. As we looked around the table we remembered the year before. That year, we went to a London family. That last year our host, hostess and two children had been hiding in a windowless room in Holland unaware that Pesach had come. Friends kept them supplied with barely enough to live on, at the risk of their own lives.

The Rabbi of the community was present. Originally German, he had joined the Dutch Underground after escaping from a concentration camp. He was very thin, his cheeks were stained a vivid red. I wondered what a chest X-ray would show, but chest X-rays had become almost unheard of for Dutch people.

The youngster who wanted to join the Dutch Navy to fight the Nazis and Japs: from our side of the river he could look across to the village where his parents were in safe hiding, he hoped. He asked us for advice. Some friends disapproved of his plans. What if the village were freed, and he not there to see and help his parents? What if the Nazis found out his name, and captured his parents? They would torture the old people without mercy. What did we think?

I am home in Montreal for Pesach. What was once a family festival of rejoicing is now celebrated in a new way. Instead of a Seder at home, have a Seder in a Kosher Hotel in Atlantic City, New York, Florida, or anywhere else. The Save The Children Fund claims that $25 will keep one child for a year. The Youth Aliyah says that $25 will keep one child for a month or so. How many children could be saved by the money spent on these Passover pleasure trips?

Every newspaper tells of sickness and famine in Europe. We have heard reports of the sufferings of Jews in UNNRA camps, and Poland, we have heard of Jews and Gentiles suffering all over the world. Canada has rationed many commodities to feed them, but money is still needed to buy food, clothes, and medical stores. How many lives could be saved by the money?

A campaign has failed, a campaign to run boys' clubs, the clubs that keep our boys off the street and out of jail. How may Canadian children could that money help? Or would you rather give more in taxes to keep up our penitentaries and mental instututions?

The Canadian Legion wants money. How many of our boys would benefit by money given to the Legion?

Just think it over: The wanton waste of food, clothes, and money; the total disregard of rationing and the reasons for it, and of the different shortages of food and clothing by a few of our people are deeply shocking to many of us who have just returned home.

ATTACK JEWS

Ministry for May 1, according to reports published in the Rumanian press.

Included among those called up are Jews who did forced labour service (although, according to the law, this was to be considered as equivalent to military service), as well as Jews who have returned from concentration camps—which gives them a legal claim to be exempted from military service.

Three wagon-loads of clothing for refugees and Jews repatriated from Transnistria reached Bucharest from Palestine. The supplies were sent by the Organization of Jewish Settlers from Rumania.

hours. The other one was tubercular.

The foregoing is part of a report by Joseph Wolhandler, who passed ten months at Belsen as a welfare worker for the Joint Distribution Committee, an organization for aiding Jews in Europe, supplementing the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration. Mr. Wolhandler, a former member of the American Field Service, is now in New York on the staff of the United Jewish Appeal, which raises funds for the J. D. C. and other organizations which aid Jewish refugees in the United States and Palestine.

Mr. Wolhandler had also visited Buchenwald—described as a Nazi "extermination factory" — as a member of a J. D. C. team which removed 1,000 boys under fourteen and started them on their way to Palestine in less than a month after the camp was liberated. Youngsters under fourteen receive priority certificates from the British permitting them to enter that country. Buchenwald was liberated by United States troops just a little over a year ago.

"These children were quiet and unusually well disciplined," Mr. Wolhandler said in a recent interview. "They did not have the sauciness of American children. The Buchenwald kids, many of whom suffered from chronic-type ailments like those from Belsen, are now at Palestine training settlements studying farming and other subjects."

Mr. Wolhandler's description continued, pointing out on the one hand some of the efforts being made by the J. D. C., one of three agencies which would benefit by the campaign for $100,000,000 being conducted by the United Jewish Appeal.

Training schools, like one near Fulda, were set up. There, in anticipation of a better future, classes of seventy study farming on a ten-acre school-farm whose equipment includes ten cows and some chickens.

Fifty-five hundred new pairs of women's shoes were delivered to the Jews at Belsen, as were 1,000 men's overcoats, children's shoes, 30,000 parcels from Switzerland and fifty-eight tons of food.

"Search bureaus" were established to trace missing families, as were immigration bureaus, to aid those with a chance to leave Germany or the other countries in which the J. D. C. functions. A plan for schools for the children in the displaced-persons camps was put into effect. Theatre groups were organized, as were children's homes and magazines.

On the other hand, the report emphasized the need for supplying increased quantities of such essentials as food, fuel, clothing and quarters other than displaced-persons camps, many of them former concentration camps, including Belsen, was emphasized.

In Belsen the 10,000 Jews and an equal number of non-Jews, most of the latter also Poles, live in huge barracks once occupied by S. S. Panzer guards.

The stench of [illegible] is always near, although the British burned the area in which the prisoners were formerly confined.

While the day of the "living skeleton" has faded, the report continued, there is hunger. "Tuberculosis is anywhere from 10 per cent to 40 per cent higher among the survivors than anywhere in Germany." Heart and skin diseases and stomach disorders are widespread.

No Jewish Family In France Is Complete Now

Nerves are the most serious problem affecting children and adolescents in France, Mlle. Giselle Gonse, who worked with the French underground to rescue children, declared in New York.

Officially there under the auspices of the French Ministry of Public Health to survey public health procedures to help in the restoration of public health facilities in France, she spoke at a luncheon meeting of the architects and engineers division of the United Jewish Appeal of Greater New York at the Murray Hill Hotel. She sketched her experiences in hiding children from the Nazis as a nurse and social worker, her imprisonment in the Drancy concentration camp and her subsequent work with deportees after the liberation of France.

While directing a clinic near Paris Mlle. Gonse set up an office where identification papers were forged to aid in the rescue of children. After her arrest, internment by the Nazis and escape from a train taking her to Germany, she changed her place of residence seventeen times and her identification papers seven times.

Only 27,000 out of 250,000 deportees were found, Mlle. Gonse said, adding there is "still misery among the Jewish families, with no Jewish family complete now." She noted the vast work ahead in re-educating youngsters taught "the lying, stealing and spying necessary for the underground."

Julian Clarence Levi, honorary chairman of the division, received a medallion from Sylvan Gotshal, president of the appeal for Greater New York. Jacob Moscowitz, who heads the division, announced that it had assumed a quota of $25,000 toward the Greater New York goal of $35,000,000. The sum of $6,045 was raised at the luncheon, compared with $1,945 by the same group last year, Mr. Moscowitz said.

take immediate action to fight this terrible evil. As a result, "The Polish League to Combat Racialism and Anti-Semitism" has been formed in Warsaw, and branches of it are to be established in all the larger cities of the country.

The League is assured of the fullest possible official support.

The meeting took place at the headquarters of the Polish Socialist Party. Among those present were Poles who helped Jews at the risk of their own lives during the German occupation. Many were members of the Committee to Assist Jews, of all parties.

The League's first step will be to arrange a regular series of broadcasts by Poles to enlighten the public on the Jewish question and to explain the disservice to the State and humanity brought about by anti-Semitism. Prominent people in politics, science, art, and literature are to come to the microphone. Then there is to be a series of lectures and meetings all over the country, when the dangers of anti-Semitism will be pointed out. Booklets and periodicals on the subject will also be distributed. The League will publish a periodical [illegible] be held [illegible] and Universities. The Ministry of Education is to be approached with a view to arranging for special lectures to be given by all teachers to school children. Human rights and respect for human beings, including, of course, the Jew, will form the main theme.

The scheme for the Universities has been deferred. As was the case before the war, the Universities are still largely reactionary with professors of the old type. It will take some time before a change can be introduced, as most of Poland's progressive elements were murdered by the Germans.

AUSTRALIA GRANTS 2,500 PERMITS TO JEWS

Australia landing permits have been granted to 2,500 Jewish victims of Nazi oppression in concentration camps, prisons, and slave gangs, it was announced in Canberra by Arthur Caldwell, Minister of Immigration.

"These people are close relatives of other Jews now in Australia," Mr. Caldwell said. "It is a humanitarian gesture on Australia's part because of the suffering they have undergone in Europe."

The landing permits, he added, gave the intending immigrants an opportunity to leave their present countries for Britain, where they would await transhipment to Australia. Shipping might not be available for two years because 6,000 people in priority classes, including Servicemen's wives, had to be brought to Australia first.

The 2,500 Jews must be of good character, in good health, and approved by the British Security Service. It was also necessary that their relatives in Australia should guarantee that they would not be an expense to Australia. [illegible]

The Canadian Jewish Review is the only Jewish publication in Canada printed in any language reaching the Jewish community which is able to claim membership in the Audit Bureau of Circulations.

Mrs. Simons is twenty-eight and has been married to her husband for eight years. With no children of her own, she enjoys directing two Girl Scout troops and teaching Sunday school at the Community Reform Temple at 1019 Ocean Avenue, Brooklyn.

She has a black cocker spaniel the same age as Bella, and there is another playmate right across the hall— four-year-old Paul Dalgin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Dalgin.

Mrs. Simons can't wait for the time when she can take Bella strolling in Prospect Park five blocks from her house. She believes that the more love and good times that Bella gets, the sooner will disappear the child's last memories of a land where her mother and father were murdered simply because they were Jews.
